

Big Data Spain 2016 - Terms and Conditions and Privacy Policy

About the Conference

The Conference is an international meeting of experts in Big Data technologies, companies and institutions whose 5th edition will take place in Kinépolis Madrid, Spain, on the 17th and 18th of November 2016.

The company Paradigma Digital SL (thereafter “the organisers”) organises the Conference in co-operation with individuals, universities, communities and companies that are genuinely relevant to Big Data technologies and their applications. The organisers are the owners of the “Big Data Spain” and “Big Data España” trademarks.

Registration scope

The only valid platform to buy the tickets is the Big Data Spain's website at <https://www.bigdataspain.org>. Tickets are nominal. The tickets can be transferable individually only once for the whole duration of the Conference.

All attendees must pay the full registration fee and the funds received at the ticketing platform in order to have their access granted to the venue of the event. Individual ID cards, passports, etc will not grant access on their own. Tickets are the only document that will grant access to all the talks, coffee breaks and lunches at the venue of the Conference. Tickets will be made available by the attendees to the staff at the registration desk of the Conference on their arrival as the only accepted proof of the payment and identification. The print out may be on paper or or electronic screens.

The organisers will not provide certificates of attendance.

Limited capacity of rooms on-premise

The capacity of the theatres is limited. The access to all sessions is of a rigorous first-come first-served basis. The organisers do not guarantee the availability of seats at any given session.

Cancellation Policy

Tickets are not refundable under any circumstance.

Liability

The organisers may amend any part of the Conference program if necessary at any time. The organisers will not accept liability for damages of any nature sustained by speakers, attendees, volunteers, guests or accompanying persons, or loss of, or damage to their personal property as a result of the Conference or related events.

Everyone attending the event should make their own arrangements with respect to travel, accommodation and insurance.

Privacy policy

The organisers collect information about users such as: 1) data that users volunteer by signing up to receive news and product information, entering contests, completing surveys, or buying directly from us; 2) aggregated tracking data we collect when users interact with the website at www.bigdataspain.org and 3) data that the ticketing platform and the payment gateways collect in our behalf of those individuals and companies registering at and paying for the tickets of the Conference.

The specific use of your personal information varies, depending on how you contact us. When you sign up online to receive Big Data Spain newsletters, product and company news you must provide your name and email address. We never sell or rent your email address or other personally identifiable information you provide us under these circumstances.

We analyse the visitors' use of our sites by tracking information such as pageviews, traffic flow, search terms, and click through. We use this information to improve our site. We also may also share this anonymous traffic and demographic information in aggregate form with advertisers, sponsors and other business partners.

Sponsors at the Big Data Spain hosting venue may request oral permission from you to scan your attendee badge. By accepting to be scanned in that manner you accept that the organisers send those Sponsors your individual data (name, email address and company details).

In accordance with the provisions of Organic law 15/99 of 13 December 1999 on the Protection of Personal Data, you as an attendee are informed about the collection of your personal data as described above. You can exercise your rights of access, rectification, cancellation and opposition under the Data Protection Act, by notice in writing to the Platinum sponsors of the Conference.

Cookies

A cookie is a small text file that we transfer to your computer through your web browser when you visit our sites. Cookies enable our systems to recognise your browser, so that we can provide you with personalised information and features. We also use cookies to track user traffic patterns.

Notification of Changes

Changes to these terms and conditions will be announced at the organisers' website or via the Twitter handle @bigdataspain

Code of Conduct

The organisers that all attendees are well-intended and, collectively, a smart group of people. Our priority is that the Big Data Spain Conference is a safe and productive environment for everyone.

We will conduct the sessions mostly in English, including written and oral instructions and introduction of speakers and sessions. We recommend that you make sure that your fluency in oral and spoken English will allow you to enjoy and make a good use of the sessions. We may use Spanish in some sessions and as an auxiliary language in some cases by the event staff.

Please bring any concerns to the immediate attention of the event staff present at the hosting venue, or contact [bigdataspain \[at\] gmail.com](mailto:bigdataspain@gmail.com). While we cannot guarantee response times, we will try to help in keeping the event friendly and effective to all participants.

Law and location

The organisers are Paradigma Digital SL with VAT identification number ESB84946656, address Vía de las dos Castillas, 33 - Ática 4, 2ª Planta, postcode 28224, city Pozuelo de Alarcón, telephone + 34 91 352 59 42 registered at the Registro Mercantil de Madrid, Tomo 23.604, Libro 0. Folio 195. Sección 8, Hoja M-423565.

The Big Data Spain Conference and the website www.bigdataspain.org are subject to the laws of Spain.